

Recycling at Work

Leading the way to a waste free community

Introducing Recycling at Work, Hamilton County's new program to help businesses reduce waste, save money, and enhance their public image.

How Recycling at Work Works

Receive everything you need to start recycling in your office, including advice from experts in waste reduction. And, because Recycling at Work is a County program, the assistance is free.

Why Recycle?

Save Money

Reducing the amount of waste your business throws away can lower the number of garbage pickups you pay for or reduce the size of the waste container your business requires.

Conserve Resources

Recycling makes it possible to create products from used paper, plastic, or metals instead of using raw materials. This reduces pollution, conserves landfill space, and decreases the need for mining, logging, and drilling for natural resources.

With Recycling at Work your business will receive:

- A customized recycling plan
- Desk-side recycling containers for each employee
- Coordination of recycling services with your waste hauler
- Education about recycling or a kick-off event for your employees
- A decal to advertise that your business recycles

Create Good Jobs and Boost the Local Economy

The recycling industry has a total economic impact of 169,000 jobs and $6 billion in annual wages, just in the state of Ohio.

Why Recycling at Work is Free

Hamilton County Solid Waste District's mission is to provide you with all of the tools, knowledge, and assistance you need to run a successful recycling program. The District offers all of these services free of charge to Hamilton County businesses.

Did You Know?

The average office worker generates between 120 and 150 pounds of recyclable paper each year.
